Starting point

Possible answers

1 This is usually based on financial information such as turnover, and profit and loss. It could also consider figures relating to productivity or speed at which raw materials are turned into the finished product.

2 A project is often assessed on budget (over or under), effective use of resources and if it is completed on time.

3 Employees are measured by criteria which are often subjective such as how well the employee works with other members of a team. However, in some jobs such as sales which are results driven, it is easier to assess performance by the number of units sold. Similarly, staff can also be measured in terms of timekeeping and attendance.

1 The three aims are given in paragraph A. They were to
   • make sure that employees’ contributions fitted the goals of the business
   • have the chance to recognize good performance
   • address any issues for the employee.

2 The completed appraisal form is discussed as well as future performance objectives and any views / issues that employees have. ‘Constructive two-way feedback’ is preferred.

3 They use a scoring system where the manager and employee rate each objective on a scale of one to four and compare their results.

1 offers a seat and a drink
2 offers help with coat / bag and discusses the journey / traffic
3 discusses journey / weather

2
Please take a seat. / Can I get you something to drink? / A cup of tea would be nice. / Let me take your coat. / You can leave your bag over there. / Did you have any trouble finding us? / No, not at all. / The traffic was terrible. / I hope you managed to avoid the roadworks. / You've driven over from … today? / What was the weather like when you left? / Much worse than this.

Language at work

1 imagined past action and imagined past result - b imagined past action and imagined present result - a
2 a = mixed conditional
   b = third conditional
3 third conditional = If + past perfect, would have + past participle
   mixed conditional = If + past perfect, would + present infinitive
4 could have or might have are also possible in the result clause. They both add lack of certainty or possibility to the meaning.

Possible answers

1 If I had waited to get authorization for the car, I would have been late for the meeting. If I'd been late for the meeting, we might have lost the contract. If we had lost the contract, the company wouldn't be expanding now.

2 If we hadn't used our regular supplier, we would have got a discount. But if we had used the new supplier, he might not have delivered on time. And if he hadn't delivered on time, we wouldn't have enough paper for the current mailshot.

1  pointing out what someone has done wrong - b pointing out what it was possible for someone to do - a

2  could have can be replaced by might have
   Should have can be replaced by ought to have 4

Possible answers

1  You should have found out more about the company.
2  You could have let me know!
3  You should have checked with me.
4  You should have told me about the change.
5  You could have lost your job over that.
6  You should have been more polite in the letter.
