Speaking  At the airport

Exchanging personal information
You need...
Verbs be, have got
Personal pronouns
Possessive adjectives
Interrogative pronouns: What?, Where?, How old?

Warm-up

1 Look at the photo. Where is it? What are the people doing?

Listening

2 Paul is an officer at passport control. What does he ask people? Write his questions.
   1 (your passport) ____________________________?
   2 (name) _________________________________?
   3 (age) _________________________________?
   4 (country) ________________________________?
   5 (address in England) ________________________?

3 a Listen and check your answers to exercise 2.
b Listen again. What is the last question Paul asks Fabrizio?
   6 _________________________________

c Listen again and write Fabrizio’s answers to the questions.
   1 _________________________________
   2 _________________________________
   3 _________________________________
   4 _________________________________
   5 _________________________________
   6 _________________________________

Speaking

4 a Listen and repeat the phrases in the box.

Make it natural
Good morning. Welcome to...
Here you are.
Where’s that?
I see.
Right. / That’s fine.
Enjoy your visit.
Thanks a lot.

In pairs. Role play a conversation at passport control in the UK. Use the phrases in the box to make it natural!

Student A: You are an officer at passport control. Ask questions to complete the form for you partner.

Student B: Look at the form below and invent some personal details to answer the questions.

A Good morning. Welcome to England.
   Have you got...?
   B Yes, I have...

C When you finish, change roles.

PASSPORT CONTROL

Name _________________________________
Age _________________________________
Home town _________________________________
Nationality _________________________________
Address in England _________________________________
Reason for visit _________________________________